2.5 - Evaluation Process and Reforms

2.5.1 - Mechanism of internal assessment is transparent and robust in terms of frequency and mode. Write description within 200 words.

The Institution takes due care in making the progress of students meaningful and measurable. The external examination process is

The Institution is offering programmes affiliated to the University with the objectives and course outcomes as outlined by it. The major objectives for each programme are domain specific and have been largely based on the core knowledge sought to be imparted. The programme outcomes are designed by the authorities at University level for the purpose of circulation amongst all affiliated colleges. In this regard, the constituent colleges are allowed to exercise their discretion in the form of introduction of allied courses which are normally offered in consonance with the main objective of the programme from the bouquet of courses to be selected.

The Institutions are given further cushion and liberty in academics in the form of introduction of diploma courses at college level. The syllabus, credits, duration of the programme for such diploma courses can be decided by the constituent college authorities based on their requirement. It has been effectively utilized by the institution offering so many value additions and add-on programme to achieve the programme and course outcomes in a better manner.

3.2 - Innovation Ecosystem

3.2.1 - Institution has created an ecosystem for innovations and has initiatives for creation and transfer of knowledge

The teaching learning process is carried on by infusing technology and new initiatives wherever possible. The technology component is made as part of teaching learning resources as an integral one. Further, an extension of new processes that will enrich the learning process, the learning eco system in the institution is improved with new measures.

The institution is encouraging peer learning. Under that, a concept which is to be propounded for wider reach is explained to a select group of students. In turn, the rest of students in the class are taught by the select group of students. As the concept is taught by fellow students, the process of learning is made more informal but effective. This concept is used on situations where the students find the peer learning far more convenient, personal than the regular mode of teaching.

Participative Learning is yet another method being used in our institution to explain the concepts in various courses. Through this, the likely solution to a problem is given beforehand but the methods of reaching it is given for deliberation. With the guidance of teacher concerned, the sequence of events is pursued by the students which will culminate in arriving at the solution by learning the intricacies of it in the process.

quite admirably, on the whole. But, the IQAC of the opinion that some of the quality elements or advanced information on concepts of recent origin are not just good enough to be offered theory alone. Rather, they need to be supplemented by provision of contemporary knowledge by drawing in experts of practice. This suggestion made out to bridge the gap between the theory and practice which is implemented by almost all faculties by organizing guest lectures.

Secondly, the IQAC made a strong case for augmentation of informational resources at the library by purchase of books and other materials catering to the diverse needs of students. As an effort towards meeting this, the library informational resources are augmented in a way fulfilling this aspect. It resulted in better dispensation of knowledge concerning competitive examinations, books of literary interest, general knowledge and etc., Further, the library resources are automated, for a better part.
